

Indigenous.Link

Canada's fastest growing Indigenous career portal, Careers.Indigenous.Link is pleased to introduce a new approach to job searching for Indigenous Job Seekers of Canada. Careers.Indigenous.Link brings simplicity, value, and functionality to the world of Canadian online job boards.

Through our partnership with Indigenous.Links Diversity Recruitment Program, we post jobs for Canada's largest corporations and government departments. With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

The team behind Indigenous.Link is dedicated to connecting Indigenous Peoples of Canada with great jobs along with the most time and cost-effective, career-advancing resources. It is our mission to develop and maintain a website where people can go to work!

Indigenous Research Specialist

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply: Indigenous Peoples of Canada under the Human Rights Act and the Employment Equity Act will be given first consideration for this posting. Indigenous Peoples include status, non-status First Nation, Metis and Inuit People under the Employment Equity Act within Canada. Non-Indigenous candidates with experience supporting research in Indigenous contexts will be considered if the position cannot be filled by Indigenous candidates.

York is a leading international teaching and research university, and a driving force for positive change. Empowered by a welcoming and diverse community with a uniquely global perspective, we are preparing our students for their long-term careers and personal success. Together, we can make things right for our communities, our planet and our future.

The Indigenous Research Specialist role supports research and partnerships of Indigenous researchers including senior PhD students, post-docs, tenure stream and tenured faculty members and supports the research activities of non-Indigenous faculty working in Indigenous contexts. The role works to promote awareness of researchers to internal and external audiences, supports community engagement, assists with the development and review of grant applications to secure external funding, and provides post-award support including finance, HR and data management. The role provides research administration support as required.

To be considered for this opportunity, you will bring the following:

Education:

- University undergraduate degree in a relevant field such as Social Sciences and Humanities required or an equivalent of 4 years recent experience (defined as within the last five years) working at York University and performing the same or similar tasks. Graduate degree would be an asset.
- This education equivalency is in addition to the experiential requirements outlined below.

Experience:

- Five years relevant work experience in Indigenous contexts, in an academic research environment. Experience navigating Indigenous content in colonial settings.
