

Indigenous.Link

Canada's fastest growing Indigenous career portal, Careers.Indigenous.Link is pleased to introduce a new approach to job searching for Indigenous Job Seekers of Canada. Careers.Indigenous.Link brings simplicity, value, and functionality to the world of Canadian online job boards.

Through our partnership with Indigenous.Links Diversity Recruitment Program, we post jobs for Canada's largest corporations and government departments. With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

The team behind Indigenous.Link is dedicated to connecting Indigenous Peoples of Canada with great jobs along with the most time and cost-effective, career-advancing resources. It is our mission to develop and maintain a website where people can go to work!

Description

Work at CBC/Radio-Canada

At CBC/Radio-Canada, we create content that informs, entertains and connects Canadians on multiple platforms. Our successes and accomplishments are driven by embodying and upholding values, which include creativity, integrity, inclusiveness and relevance.

Do you think you have the ability and drive to keep up with this exciting, ever-changing industry? Whether it be in front of the camera, on air, online or behind the scenes, you would be joining a team that thrives on making connections and telling stories that are important to Canadians.

Your role

We are looking for a dynamic, creative individual to lead the team at CBC Thunder Bay as Executive Producer for News and Current Affairs.

You are committed to reflecting contemporary Canada inside your newsroom and through the content we create. You thrive on conversation -- both with staff and the communities we serve. You put audience needs at the centre of your decision-making. You understand the role of the public broadcaster in building a stronger local community and in building a stronger Canada. You have a strong knowledge of reporting within Indigenous communities. You are a champion of creating an inclusive news and current affairs team, in your editorial choices and within your team.

As Executive Producer, you will be responsible for all journalistic content on radio, online, mobile, social channels and on television stories when required.

You think strategically: you can set direction and delegate effectively. But you aren't afraid to roll up your sleeves and do the hard work. You thrive on mentoring developing journalists.

You understand that daily news can be a flat-out sprint to deadline, with a myriad of complex decisions to make along the way. You know how to balance out the daily demands with longer-term projects. You are courageous, willing to invest the time and effort where you can truly make change.

Your work -- and that of your team -- adheres to CBC Journalistic program policies, standards and practices.

The person occupying this position is the senior editorial leader for northwestern Ontario, and expected to live in Thunder Bay. You are responsible for all news and current affairs programs and content online, on mobile, on radio and television. You take the role of a public broadcaster seriously, putting the audience first and ensuring that the content produced by CBC Thunder Bay is relevant, informative and engaging. You have well-developed leadership and communication skills and the ability to mentor and direct staff both in person and remotely. You demonstrate a high level of creative thinking, the ability to originate and develop innovative programs and/or production concepts, as well as the ability to make immediate decisions in complex and stressful environments.

Key Tasks:

Oversee all journalism at CBC Thunder Bay.

Lead journalistic staff in strengthening our connections with communities.

Diversifying the range of voices, opinions and creative storytelling the audience sees and hears on CBC Thunder Bay.

Strengthening our content through critical thinking and creative vision.

Responsible for resource allocation including budget.

Writing and vetting as required.

Forging strategic partnerships with CBC colleagues in other locations (Ontario and beyond).

Ensuring Canadians hear and see the stories of northwestern Ontario.

Leader and champion of our Digital Strategy.

Responsible for team development by mentoring and providing opportunities for growth to editorial staff in Thunder Bay. This includes ongoing feedback and the utilization of established personal development processes.

Responsible for leading staff in strategic planning for a continuously changing media environment.

Perform all or part of the function or duties of an equivalent or lower classification.

Experience

Five (5) yearsâ€™ experience which must involve work in journalism or a closely related industry, and experience leading program or project teams.

Education Requirements

University degree or equivalent
