

Indigenous.Link

Canada's fastest growing Indigenous career portal, Careers.Indigenous.Link is pleased to introduce a new approach to job searching for Indigenous Job Seekers of Canada. Careers.Indigenous.Link brings simplicity, value, and functionality to the world of Canadian online job boards.

Through our partnership with Indigenous.Link's Diversity Recruitment Program, we post jobs for Canada's largest corporations and government departments. With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

The team behind Indigenous.Link is dedicated to connecting Indigenous Peoples of Canada with great jobs along with the most time and cost-effective, career-advancing resources. It is our mission to develop and maintain a website where people can go to work!

Description

2 positions available - Temporary / Full time

We have one full time temporary opportunity until August 2020 and one permanent part time (two days a week) opportunity.

Who you are:

You love to check out the latest innovative interactive making the social media rounds (logging it, perhaps, as inspiration for future projects.) You devour the news. You're excited about the possibilities that digital offers. You love the craft of writing and feel privileged to tell people's stories. You're tapped in to local communities and want to give them a voice. You listen and know that no detail is too small to get right. You ask why a lot. You doggedly pursue stories and feel comfortable working on your own, but know that news is collaborative. You want to work as part of a team to provide the best content for Manitobans. You're not happy with the bare minimum of effort, instead taking every story one step further. You may not know all of CBC's online tools but you're technically adept and willing to learn. Your true love is the written word, but you are keen to try radio and TV so you can understand their needs when gathering your own stories.

If this is you, we'd love for you to apply for our online reporter positions.

Who we are:

CBC Manitoba, like all of CBC's regional centres, believes in the importance of content, community and internal culture.

As part of our team, you'd play a key role in focusing on these three priorities outlined in our Local Services strategy:

Content: In this role, you will ensure that all CBC journalistic standards are met and that our stories are fair, balanced, accurate, thoughtful and immediate, and resonate with the communities we serve. You will further our original, enterprise and investigative storytelling and ensure we are talking about what matters most to people throughout Winnipeg and the rest of the province. You're innovative and will try new things, new workflows and new story treatments. You inspire others to do the same.

Community: As the industry shifts, local news and community storytelling is more important than ever. You will understand the diverse and changing population in Manitoba and the importance of reflecting all our communities in our content.

Culture: You live and promote the values of diversity and an inclusive and respectful work culture.

Key tasks:

Chase stories, interview sources and write stories.

Package stories with the best photos and most engaging video clips, plus links and other multimedia.
