

Indigenous.Link

Canada's fastest growing Indigenous career portal, Careers.Indigenous.Link is pleased to introduce a new approach to job searching for Indigenous Job Seekers of Canada. Careers.Indigenous.Link brings simplicity, value, and functionality to the world of Canadian online job boards.

Through our partnership with Indigenous.Link's Diversity Recruitment Program, we post jobs for Canada's largest corporations and government departments. With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

The team behind Indigenous.Link is dedicated to connecting Indigenous Peoples of Canada with great jobs along with the most time and cost-effective, career-advancing resources. It is our mission to develop and maintain a website where people can go to work!

Description

This hybrid position is ideal for someone passionate about the education and support of Indigenous students in a holistic way.

The Waterloo Indigenous Student Centre (WISC) - also known in Kanien'keha (Mohawk) as Shatitsirotha - provides cultural and social support to Indigenous students in all faculties and programs at the University of Waterloo. The WISC is located at St. Paul's University College, which is also the academic home for UW's Minor in Indigenous Studies and the new Minor in Indigenous Entrepreneurship. For more information about the WISC, please visit this website: <https://uwaterloo.ca/stpauls/waterloo-indigenous-student-centre>.

The Director reports to the Principal of St. Paul's and consults with the Indigenous Advisory Circle on programming matters. The primary responsibility of the Director is to provide strategic and operational leadership to the WISC. The Director also provides advice to the Principal of St. Paul's on Indigenous matters and serves as a valued member of the senior management team for the College.

Because we value a holistic approach to education, the Director also enjoys membership in the College faculty and teaches in the Indigenous Studies Minor.

Candidates for the position should have substantial experience in organizations that support Indigenous students or youth, demonstrated strategic and management skills, a capacity to communicate the significance of the lived Indigenous experience and a successful record of teaching at the university level. A Ph.D., or enrollment in a doctoral program, is expected. St. Paul's has an exceptionally collegial working environment and seeks employees who are team players and take an interest in the College as a whole.

For salary and administrative purposes, the position is categorized as a faculty position. Salary will be a function of experience and qualifications.
