

Indigenous.Link

Canada's fastest growing Indigenous career portal, Careers.Indigenous.Link is pleased to introduce a new approach to job searching for Indigenous Job Seekers of Canada. Careers.Indigenous.Link brings simplicity, value, and functionality to the world of Canadian online job boards.

Through our partnership with Indigenous.Links Diversity Recruitment Program, we post jobs for Canada's largest corporations and government departments. With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

The team behind Indigenous.Link is dedicated to connecting Indigenous Peoples of Canada with great jobs along with the most time and cost-effective, career-advancing resources. It is our mission to develop and maintain a website where people can go to work!

Description

The Department of Anthropology at McMaster University invites applications for full-time tenure-track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in cultural anthropology commencing July 1, 2019. We are looking for candidates with a focus on innovative approaches to anthropology, including those that center on socially engaged and participatory art, aesthetics/politics, and new materialism. Attention to issues of writing and representation is a plus. The geographical area of specialization is open, although preference will be given to candidates with areas of specialization that complement current faculty strengths. We expect the person who fills this position to take an active role in scholarship and to contribute to the department's strong tradition of collegiality and collaboration. Candidates will have completed a PhD in Anthropology or relevant related discipline at the time of the appointment, and have established excellence in research and teaching. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply. However, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority for these positions. The Department will begin reviewing applicants November 15, 2018. The position will remain open until it is filled.
