Canada's fastest growing Indigenous career portal, Careers.Indigenous.Link is pleased to introduce a new approach to job searching for Indigenous Job Seekers of Canada. Careers.Indigenous.Link brings simplicity, value, and functionality to the world of Canadian online job boards.

Through our partnership with Indigenous.Links Diversity Recruitment Program, we post jobs for Canada's largest corporations and government departments. With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

The team behind Indigenous.Link is dedicated to connecting Indigenous Peoples of Canada with great jobs along with the most time and cost-effective, career-advancing resources. It is our mission to develop and maintain a website where people can go to work!

Description

Join JSGS!

The Johnson Shoyama Graduate School of Public Policy (JSGS) is recruiting for two tenure-stream positions at the rank of Assistant Professor: one in Economics and Economic Policy, and one in Governance and Public Policy, starting July 1, 2023. The positions will be based at our University of Saskatchewan (USask) campus. If you are interested in becoming part of transformative change at JSGS as we continue the exciting process of faculty renewal at our USask campus, read on.

Each successful candidate is expected to develop a highly productive research programs, teach courses across five graduate programs and several graduate certificates, supervise graduate students, and participate in administrative activities, including meetings and committee work. The development of new courses may substitute for course instruction in some cases.

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR IN ECONOMICS AND ECONOMIC POLICY

This position will focus on teaching courses primarily in economics and economic policy. Research expertise in innovation and/or sustainability policy with an interest in energy, natural resources, or agriculture policy would be an asset.

Candidate Qualities

We are looking for a new scholarly colleague with a doctoral degree and a research track record in economics or economic policy. The successful candidate must be able to demonstrate promise of excellence in teaching and research.

The ability to add to JSGS's research expertise, methodological diversity, excellence in online teaching, and public engagement will be strong assets. Experience in the public sector and/or other applied policy contexts would be an asset.

Candidates who will attract our attention are high-impact scholars whose ambitions resonate with the JSGS brand of high-quality graduate education and outstanding interdisciplinary research. We are seeking candidates who will contribute vitality to our school's graduate programming, both in person and online (visit <https://www.schoolofpublicpolicy.sk.ca/> for the full listing), our ambitious research agenda, and a dynamic academic culture.

This is an open invitation for you to challenge us with your creative and innovative research and approaches to teaching and demonstrate how your work will have a positive impact on society.

Details

The successful candidate will be offered a tenure-stream appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor. The salary range for Assistant Professors is $98,178 to $117,978 per annum.

To Apply

Interested and qualified candidates are asked to send a letter of motivation (including your vision on education if you were to join JSGS and indicating which courses in our graduate programs that you are qualified to teach) and a detailed CV as a single PDF file to jsgs-hr@usask.ca. The subject line should read, "Assistant Professor - Economics & Econ Policy".

APPLICATION DEADLINE FOR BOTH POSITIONS

The consideration of applications will begin on November 21, 2022, and continue until the position is filled. Shortlisted candidates will be asked to provide three letters of reference and, as part of the interview process, to deliver a synchronous teaching demonstration and a seminar on their area of research and how it connects to JSGS.

Due to federal immigration requirements, we ask candidates to indicate whether they are Canadian citizens, permanent residents, or are otherwise already authorized to work permanently in Canada, with an explanation if this last category is indicated.

The University of Saskatchewan (USask) is strongly committed to a diverse and inclusive workplace that empowers all employees to reach their full potential. All members of the university community share a responsibility for developing and maintaining an environment in which differences are valued and inclusiveness is practiced. The university welcomes applications from those who will contribute to the diversity of our community. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority.

About JSGS

Named after Albert W. Johnson and Thomas K. Shoyama, two of Saskatchewan's best-known public servants who went on to illustrious careers with the federal government, JSGS is the first provincial school of its kind and is the product of an innovative and successful partnership between the University of Regina and the University of Saskatchewan.

In its second decade of operations, JSGS strives to be a world-class policy school that educates, informs, and engages with public policy and administration. Our unique two-campus model brings together faculty and staff from two universities and several disciplines, as well as a host of Executives-in-Residence with many years of practical experience in government.

About the University of Saskatchewan

The University of Saskatchewan's main campus is situated on Treaty 6 Territory and the Homeland of the Metis. USask's main campus is located in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, a city with a diverse and thriving economic base, a vibrant arts community, and a full range of leisure opportunities. The University has a reputation for excellence in teaching, research, and scholarly activities and offers a full range of undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs to a student population of over 24,000.

Work Environment

JSGS is a single provincial school. These two positions will be based at the School's University of Saskatchewan campus in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan. The School enjoys a wonderfully supportive and welcoming culture.
