

Indigenous.Link

Canada's fastest growing Indigenous career portal, Careers.Indigenous.Link is pleased to introduce a new approach to job searching for Indigenous Job Seekers of Canada. Careers.Indigenous.Link brings simplicity, value, and functionality to the world of Canadian online job boards.

Through our partnership with Indigenous.Links Diversity Recruitment Program, we post jobs for Canada's largest corporations and government departments. With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

The team behind Indigenous.Link is dedicated to connecting Indigenous Peoples of Canada with great jobs along with the most time and cost-effective, career-advancing resources. It is our mission to develop and maintain a website where people can go to work!

Description

About the job

EHRC (Electricity Human Resources Canada) is committed to supporting Indigenous Peoples participation in the Canadian electricity industry. In this role, the Project Manager will be accountable to raise the profile of Indigenous engagement for EHRC across Canada. Reporting to the VP of Program Development the Project Manager will be responsible for managing specific national-level projects and programming focused on engaging with Indigenous communities, and building relationships between these communities and a wide range of stakeholders including employers, unions and post-secondary institutions. The Project Manager will identify, develop and oversee strategic projects from inception to implementation, ensuring alignment with EHRC's mandate and strategic goals. A three year project with specific deliverables has recently commenced and will be the primary project for which the project manager will be responsible. This project will engage with local Indigenous communities nation-wide to host youth camps for young participants to get interested in STEM and the energy transition. This project will also engage with these communities to conduct comprehensive labour market intelligence to understand skills capacity to convert from carbon emitting electricity generation in rural and remote communities to non-carbon emitting sources. And lastly, this role will lead the rollout of a national campaign to engage Canadian youth (grades 6-8) in Canada's energy transition.

Key Responsibilities

The Project Manager is responsible for implementing Indigenous engagement programming on behalf of EHRC. Specific responsibilities include:

- Utilizes labour market information to identify geographical and sectoral growth needs, opportunities and priorities to advance and support Indigenous workforce development and participation in the Canadian electricity sector.
- Identifies key stakeholders and initiatives and develops/maintains relationships with and between Indigenous communities and electricity sector stakeholders
- Designs, manages and monitors project activities to ensure high quality deliverables on time and on budget. Identifies and mitigates project risks
- Plans, organizes and facilitates national project steering committee meetings and provides support to steering committee members as needed.
- Responsible to manage budgets and all project activities in alignment with funder requirements., including monitoring and reporting on the project financial progress, calculating and reporting cash and in-kind contributions.
- Establishes key performance measurement strategies to monitor the effectiveness of individual activities and program impact.
- Leads the process of engaging consultant services (through competitive processes) and subsequent management of consultants to successfully achieve project deliverables.
- Works closely with marketing and stakeholder engagement teams to achieve project objectives and ensures all parties and stakeholders are informed of project progress.
- Excellent stakeholder engagement abilities and experience participating in complex project proposal writing and submission processes to support identification and securing new sources of funding for EHRC initiatives.

- Represents EHRC at the federal/provincial/territorial levels and with other organizations.
- Provide supervision, direction, coaching and mentoring to project staff.
- May perform other duties as required by the organization from time to time.

About Electricity Human Resources Canada

Electricity is one of Canada's essential utilities. More than 100,000 Canadians are involved in generating, transmitting and distributing it. Their work powers homes and businesses across the country, fueling everything from light bulbs, cell phones and refrigerators to water treatment plants and road vehicle assembly lines.

However, in the face of changing demographics and technology, the industry's highly skilled workforce needs to grow and adapt. Electricity Human Resources Canada is an enabler, a research hub, a convener and an active partner helping industry meet these challenges to secure Canada's long-term electricity supply.

As a trusted source of objective research, information and tools about labour market and human resource trends, EHRC helps the Canadian electricity workforce grow and remain innovative while striving to improve the quality of service to Canadians. Above all, we provide evidence-based solutions to the human resource challenges facing the electricity industry.

EHRC is an enthusiastic equal opportunity employer. If you are selected for an interview and require special accommodations, please let us know. Please submit your application cover letter and resume. We thank all candidates for applying but only those candidates selected for an interview will be contacted.
