With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

Description

Western University invites nominations and applications for the position of Vice-Provost & Associate Vice-President (Indigenous Initiatives).

Western University is located on the traditional lands of the Anishinaabek, Haudenosaunee, L  naap  ewak and Attawandaron peoples, on lands connected with the London Township and Sombra Treaties of 1796 and the Dish with One Spoon Covenant Wampum. This land continues to be home to diverse Indigenous Peoples (First Nations, M  tis and Inuit) whom we recognize as contemporary stewards of the land and vital contributors of our society.

Western University is deeply committed to continuing to build and strengthen relationships with Indigenous communities locally, provincially, nationally and internationally, and to fostering an academic environment where all students, staff, faculty and community members experience Western as a welcoming and culturally safe place. At Western University, Indigenous languages and Indigenous ways of knowing, being and doing are practiced, respected and supported.

The Vice-Provost & Associate Vice-President (Indigenous Initiatives) provides inspirational, transformational, and visionary leadership for the Office of Indigenous Initiatives at Western. Together with a highly committed team, the Indigenous Postsecondary Education Council, and the Indigenous Faculty Advisory Council, the Vice-Provost & AVP plays a lead role in championing Indigenous strategic directions, building collaborative and community-engaged partnerships, and supporting campus partners in implementing Western     s Indigenous Strategic Plan.

Working across portfolios at the university and with local communities, the Vice-Provost & AVP (Indigenous Initiatives) provides strategic guidance to a constellation of people and serves as a key resource for senior leaders and Indigenous faculty, staff and students on campus. In partnership with the Provost and Vice-President (Academic) and alongside other members of Western     s senior leadership team, the Vice-Provost & AVP (Indigenous Initiatives) effectively involves faculty, staff and students to build reconciliation in education and research.

As the ideal candidate you have an outstanding record of scholarly achievement combined with a graduate degree, ideally a PhD, but the committee is open to other qualifications and demonstrated leadership experience within the academic context. You have demonstrated leadership experience building genuine relationships, both inside and outside university settings. Known as a community builder, and an individual that can navigate comfortably across cultures, peoples, and geographies, you are creative in your approaches to building collaboration and engagement. You demonstrate humility, courage, integrity, excellent judgement and diplomacy, and your well-developed communication skills allow you to navigate stimulating and thought-provoking conversations.

The university is seeking an Indigenous candidate for this position, with preference for Indigenous people from Turtle Island.

Since 1878, Western University has been committed to serving our communities through the pursuit of academic excellence and by providing students, faculty, and community members with life-long opportunities for intellectual, social, and cultural growth. Western is a founding member of Canada     s U15, serves as a hub for more than 500 international research collaborations, and is recognized as one of Canada     s Top 100 Employers. Western is home to the innovative Indigenous Mentorship Network Program of Ontario funded by the Canadian Institutes of Health Research (CIHR). There are approximately 40,000 students, including more than 451 Indigenous undergraduate and 138 graduate students, 5,800 international undergraduate and graduate students from 128 countries, within Western's 12 Faculties and Schools and three affiliated University Colleges. Approximately 4,000 faculty and staff work in partnership to deliver 400+ specializations, majors and minors, as well as innovative modular degree programs.
