

Indigenous.Link

Canada's fastest growing Indigenous career portal, Careers.Indigenous.Link is pleased to introduce a new approach to job searching for Indigenous Job Seekers of Canada. Careers.Indigenous.Link brings simplicity, value, and functionality to the world of Canadian online job boards.

Through our partnership with Indigenous.Links Diversity Recruitment Program, we post jobs for Canada's largest corporations and government departments. With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

The team behind Indigenous.Link is dedicated to connecting Indigenous Peoples of Canada with great jobs along with the most time and cost-effective, career-advancing resources. It is our mission to develop and maintain a website where people can go to work!

Description

About the Curator in Residence Launching in the Fall of 2023 the School of the Arts (SOTA) at McMaster in collaboration with the McMaster Museum of Art, and the Art Gallery of Hamilton will host a Curator in Residence for a period of 8 months (September to April). The residency invites an emerging or mid-career curator to work on the McMaster campus to mentor students on curatorial practices and to teach collaboratively in our Certificate in Critical Curatorial Studies. The Curator should be committed to equity, diversity and inclusion in their curatorial practice and engage with anti-oppressive and decolonized frameworks. We are particularly interested in site specific and socially-engaged practices in addition to more conventional curatorial practices. The Curator in Residence will engage students in our Certificate in Critical Curatorial Studies to develop a curatorial project and to learn to write curatorial texts. Additionally, the Curator in Residence will work with SOTA students to curate a selection of student work for campus exhibitions and a minimum of 1 studio critique per term (2 total). Other options might include in class visits and public outreach through talks or museum tours. How to apply We are currently accepting applications for the 2023-2024, 2024-2025 and 2025-2026 academic year. To inquire about the program, please contact the School of the Arts Director, sotadir@mcmaster.ca The School of the Arts in collaboration with the McMaster Museum of Art, and the Art Gallery of Hamilton is accepting applications for the position of Curator in Residence for three non-renewable positions one in each of the next three years. Applicants may indicate their preferred year(s) of residency in their application and the Selection Committee will assign a successful candidate to each of the three positions. The duties of the position are expected to average the equivalent of 2-3 days or 16-24 hours of work per week. The Curator in Residence will engage students in our Certificate in Critical Curatorial Studies to develop a curatorial project and to learn to write curatorial texts. Additionally, the Curator in Residence will work with SOTA students to curate a selection of student work for campus exhibitions and a minimum of 1 studio critique per term (2 total). Other options might include in class visits and public outreach through talks or museum tours. Successful applicants will:

- have curated a minimum of 2 exhibitions at a public gallery, museum, or artist-run centre
- have experience with site specific and/or socially-engaged curatorial projects
- have an MFA or an MA in curatorial studies or a related field
- have demonstrated commitment to critical curatorial practices that are anti-oppressive and decolonized

- be legally eligible to work in Canada

Applicants should submit:

- a 2-3 page letter of application addressing relevant curatorial experience, any relevant teaching experience, how you address equity, diversity and inclusion in your curatorial practice
- a curriculum vitae
- names and contact information for three references

Remuneration $25,000 for an eight-month term (September to April) with 16- 24 hours per week dedicated to residency activities. Please submit your letter of application and CV via MOSAIC (<https://hr.mcmaster.ca/careers/current-opportunities/> (Job Opening ID 52338) – as a single PDF or Word document. Application deadline: February 28, 2023. Interviews will commence the first week of March 2023.
