

Indigenous.Link

Canada's fastest growing Indigenous career portal, Careers.Indigenous.Link is pleased to introduce a new approach to job searching for Indigenous Job Seekers of Canada. Careers.Indigenous.Link brings simplicity, value, and functionality to the world of Canadian online job boards.

Through our partnership with Indigenous.Links Diversity Recruitment Program, we post jobs for Canada's largest corporations and government departments. With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

The team behind Indigenous.Link is dedicated to connecting Indigenous Peoples of Canada with great jobs along with the most time and cost-effective, career-advancing resources. It is our mission to develop and maintain a website where people can go to work!

Description

Course Information

This course will explore the relationships between cultural diversity and social behaviours in Indigenous communities, raise awareness about the state of Indigenous health and promote understanding about their social and cultural conditions. The course will explore the impact of various social, cultural and economic determinants of disease on the health of Indigenous populations. Through the focus on Indigenous Health this course will inform on health issues in the context of broader social, cultural and historical community factors that lead to health disparities. In recognizing the Indigenous health issues linked to social, historical, and cultural indicators, the course will create opportunities for further research and query, to understand and address the influences of cross-cultural factors not just for the Indigenous health issues, but other similar populations within Canada and beyond.

Experience

The ideal candidate has a demonstrated record of high performance and expertise teaching at the university-level and/or experience in public health.

Education Requirements

Candidates with a PhD in a relevant discipline and/or equivalent experience are preferred.

Essential Skills

You will be responsible for all activities associated with the successful delivery of the course, including but not limited to: developing, preparing, and delivering the course; setting and marking examinations, assessing the academic work of students, and reporting grades.

Candidates must be willing to undertake training as required by the Employer including, but not limited to, training in respect of health and safety, harassment and discrimination, and legislated service standards.

Work Environment

In-person instruction two times a week for 80 minutes per class.
