

Indigenous.Link

Canada's fastest growing Indigenous career portal, Careers.Indigenous.Link is pleased to introduce a new approach to job searching for Indigenous Job Seekers of Canada. Careers.Indigenous.Link brings simplicity, value, and functionality to the world of Canadian online job boards.

Through our partnership with Indigenous.Link's Diversity Recruitment Program, we post jobs for Canada's largest corporations and government departments. With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

The team behind Indigenous.Link is dedicated to connecting Indigenous Peoples of Canada with great jobs along with the most time and cost-effective, career-advancing resources. It is our mission to develop and maintain a website where people can go to work!

Description

What it's like working at CBC/Radio-Canada

CBC is transforming the way it serves Canadians where they live. Our vision is to reflect Canadians to each other on every available platform while creating a deep understanding of our communities and the people who live there. We do that by telling relevant, responsive and original storytelling. We are community connectors, more local, more digital and more determined than ever. An important part of our commitment is programming in eight Indigenous languages including Cree, to serve the people of Eeyou Istchee James Bay.

We are hiring a Manager, Journalism and Programming to take charge of our Nord Quebec Cree language programming on radio, TV and digital. The position is based in Montreal with our 12 person Cree programming team.

The successful candidate will be a leader with vision and compassion, who can bring out the best in a team and can collaborate well with other programming teams across CBC. We're looking for someone obsessed with excellence, creating great, relevant content and a great place to work. This role is integral to enriching how people connect to CBC at the local level. This means deepening our original and enterprise storytelling and ensuring we talk about what matters most to people in the Cree communities of the Eeyou Istchee James Bay.

You will deliver on this through a focus on three priorities.

Content: In this role, you will ensure that CBC journalistic standards are met and that our stories are fair, balanced, accurate, thoughtful, and resonate with the Cree communities. You're innovative and will inspire the team to try new things, new workflows and new story treatments across all platforms: radio, television and digital.

Community: Our community goal is to be a passionate force for public good in our communities by fostering a shared understanding about each other. With that in mind, local news and community storytelling is more important than ever. You will understand the diverse population of Eeyou Istchee James Bay and the importance of connecting and reflecting all our communities in ways that deepens our connections to each other.

Culture: You will lead a team of diverse, talented and passionate people. You will develop their talent, coach them, support them and inspire them to new heights. You live and promote the values of diversity and an inclusive and respectful work culture.

You will work with other leaders across the North, the Quebec Region and the rest of the country to further the Vision, Purpose and Strategy of Local Services and the goals of CBC.

Essential Skills

Leadership skills to inspire and direct creative, programming staff. Experience in developing people, providing feedback that builds understanding, and skill.

A strong understanding of the Cree and Quebec communities, as well as knowledge of Canada's North.

Fluent Cree language skills would be an important advantage as all programming is in Cree.

Belief in the value of public service broadcasting.

Knowledge of journalism and program production.

Knowledge of effective management and change-management techniques.

Knowledge of CBC's Journalistic Standards and Practices.

An agile, creative mind to develop and evaluate programs and to develop ideas for programs on a daily basis. Intelligence and the ability to think both laterally and linearly are essential to manage a wide range of circumstances every day.

Excellent communication, listening, collaboration, and interpersonal skills as well as cultural sensitivity and awareness.

Knowledge of French would be an advantage, as the workplace is fluently French speaking.

How to Apply

If this sounds interesting, please apply online! We thank all applicants for their interest, but only candidates selected for an interview will be contacted.
