

Indigenous.Link

Canada's fastest growing Indigenous career portal, Careers.Indigenous.Link is pleased to introduce a new approach to job searching for Indigenous Job Seekers of Canada. Careers.Indigenous.Link brings simplicity, value, and functionality to the world of Canadian online job boards.

Through our partnership with Indigenous.Links Diversity Recruitment Program, we post jobs for Canada's largest corporations and government departments. With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

The team behind Indigenous.Link is dedicated to connecting Indigenous Peoples of Canada with great jobs along with the most time and cost-effective, career-advancing resources. It is our mission to develop and maintain a website where people can go to work!

Description

Ministry of Health

Multiple Locations in BC

Lead Manager, Indigenous Research and Reporting Initiatives

In recognition of the critical importance to this role of a lived understanding of Indigenous communities, history, values and cultural competencies, this competition is restricted to self-identified Indigenous applicants (First Nations, Metis, or Inuit).

The Office of the Provincial Health Officer (OPHO) is committed to truth and reconciliation and upholding the inherent rights of Indigenous peoples. The OPHO is working to unlearn, and undo inherited white supremacy and racism in our policies, practices and approaches. The OPHO has partnerships with the First Nations Health Authority, Metis Nation BC and other Indigenous partners to pursue collaborative projects and develop reports on Indigenous health, wellness and determinants of health. The OPHO's relationships are grounded in principles of self-determination, respect, reciprocal accountability, cultural safety, cultural humility, and Two-Eyed Seeing.

The Lead Manager, Indigenous Research and Reporting Initiatives works in collaboration with the Project Director and is responsible for overseeing research regarding a variety of health-related issues and for the development, review, production, and evaluation of reports and other project deliverables. The Lead Manager will also assist with other office priorities, including public health emergencies.

Qualifications for this role include:

Education and Experience requirements are minimum requirements to be successful in the job competition. Please describe how you meet these requirements in your cover letter. A screening dialogue (phone or videoconference) can also be arranged. We place equal value on formal, mainstream education as well as lived experience and understanding of Indigenous ways of knowing. Years listed in this section can be cumulative and do not have to be consecutive or continued years of experience. Experiences listed as "preferred" are only considered if minimum requirements are met.

Education/Experience:

- Master's degree in related discipline*, plus three years related work experience**; OR
- Bachelor's degree in a related discipline*, plus five years' related work experience**; OR
- or an equivalent combination of education in a related discipline* and related work experience**.
