

Indigenous.Link

Canada's fastest growing Indigenous career portal, Careers.Indigenous.Link is pleased to introduce a new approach to job searching for Indigenous Job Seekers of Canada. Careers.Indigenous.Link brings simplicity, value, and functionality to the world of Canadian online job boards.

Through our partnership with Indigenous.Links Diversity Recruitment Program, we post jobs for Canada's largest corporations and government departments. With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

The team behind Indigenous.Link is dedicated to connecting Indigenous Peoples of Canada with great jobs along with the most time and cost-effective, career-advancing resources. It is our mission to develop and maintain a website where people can go to work!

NCFST is committed to staffing a workforce representative of the Aboriginal population we serve. We encourage First Nations, Metis and Inuit applicants to apply and to please self-identify in their cover letter.

Major Responsibilities

Under the direction of the Supervisor, Healing Team, the Children's Mental Health Worker will:

- Implement and provide services that combine cultural and mainstream models of healing to families, couples, youth and children.
- In a culturally grounded manner conduct holistic child, couple and family assessments
- Provide interventions weaving contemporary forms of intervention with traditional Indigenous values, worldviews and practices
- Liaise and consult with internal and external resources.
- Develop and facilitate group programs.
- Formulate concrete case management and therapeutic goals and objectives and identify appropriate internal and external resources to meet identified needs.
- Input reports and statistical data into the database.
- Provide on-going case management, crisis intervention, and ensure quality of service to clients through collaboration with all service providers.
- Respond to requests for agency information, case consultations, and community public relations.
- Attend meetings in the community including home visits.
- Ability to work flexible hours (including some evenings).
- Work in a safe manner in accordance with the Society's Health and Safety Policies and Procedures and all relevant legislation.

What we are looking for:

- Bachelor's or Master's degree in Psychology, Social Work, Counseling or a closely related field and/or a combination of education and experience
- Alternatively, an equivalent combination of education and experience working with Aboriginal people in a social services setting may be considered.
- Good understanding of play therapy, art therapy, expressive arts and mainstream interventions.
- Good understanding of Indigenous approaches to Healing.
- Pass a Vulnerable Sector Police Record Check.
- Understand the unique dynamics that exist within the First Nations, Inuit, and Métis cultures and the role of the helper within the community as either an Indigenous individual or ally.
- Oral and written communication skills, organizational and time management skills.
- Ability to contribute to a team, initiative and respect for confidentiality.
- Demonstrated understanding, and commitment to integrating the Native Child and Family Services of Toronto Mission and values into practice, service and relationships.
- Demonstrated understanding of workplace health and safety practices and understanding of an employee's responsibility under current legislation.
- Ability to work effectively with all levels of staff to maintain effective communication and working relationships, demonstrating strong interpersonal skills, tact, sensitivity and build strong internal relationships.
