

Indigenous.Link

Canada's fastest growing Indigenous career portal, Careers.Indigenous.Link is pleased to introduce a new approach to job searching for Indigenous Job Seekers of Canada. Careers.Indigenous.Link brings simplicity, value, and functionality to the world of Canadian online job boards.

Through our partnership with Indigenous.Links Diversity Recruitment Program, we post jobs for Canada's largest corporations and government departments. With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

The team behind Indigenous.Link is dedicated to connecting Indigenous Peoples of Canada with great jobs along with the most time and cost-effective, career-advancing resources. It is our mission to develop and maintain a website where people can go to work!

Description

Are you a phenomenal communicator and passionate about promoting Indigenous Cultural Safety (ICS) Do you know how to craft a compelling, clear and engaging story

We are looking for you!

Build on your education and experience:

Provide consultation and guidance to internal partners and Fraser Health leaders in the advancement of positive health care experiences for First Nations, Māori and Inuit patients, families and communities.

Lead, plan, develop and implement communication strategies that support Aboriginal Health and ICS programs and initiatives.

Provide a cultural lens to communication efforts, ensuring cultural safety is embedded in our language and public facing materials.

Collaborate with the Aboriginal Health program and members of the Communication & Public Affairs team and engage staff members, patients, and First Nations, Māori and Inuit communities to support cultural renewal and promote a positive corporate image.

We will be looking for you to have the following:

Degree in Communications, Public Affairs or a related field.

Five (5) to seven (7) year recent related experience in a communications or public affairs role in a large public sector, health care and/or similarly complex organization.

Knowledge of Indigenous histories, cultures and healing practices is highly valued.

This full time position is based at our Central City offices in Surrey, BC, with access to rapid transit, shopping, restaurants, on-site gym and amenities.

Here are more reasons to apply:

A career that offers you the opportunity to work in a fast growing and exciting organization with health care providers who are excellent in their respective fields.

Phenomenal opportunities for support and management roles are available as you advance within the organization.

Competitive salary package, including health benefits coverage.

Take the next step in your career and apply today! We can continue the conversation and make a difference.

Fraser Health is responsible for the delivery of hospital and community-based health services to over 1.8 million people in 20 diverse municipalities from Burnaby to Fraser Canyon on the unceded and traditional homelands of the Coast Salish and Nlakaamux Nations. Our team of nearly 40,000 staff, medical staff and volunteers is dedicated to serving our patients, families and communities to deliver on our vision: Better health, best in health care.

Fraser Health Authority values diversity within the workplace. For this position, we also want to highlight that First Nations, Inuit, Metis or Aboriginal ancestry is regarded as directly relevant to the skills and knowledge for excellence in the position. Pursuant to Section 41 of the British Columbia Human Rights Code, preference will be given to applicants of Aboriginal Ancestry."
