

Indigenous.Link

Canada's fastest growing Indigenous career portal, Careers.Indigenous.Link is pleased to introduce a new approach to job searching for Indigenous Job Seekers of Canada. Careers.Indigenous.Link brings simplicity, value, and functionality to the world of Canadian online job boards.

Through our partnership with Indigenous.Link's Diversity Recruitment Program, we post jobs for Canada's largest corporations and government departments. With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

The team behind Indigenous.Link is dedicated to connecting Indigenous Peoples of Canada with great jobs along with the most time and cost-effective, career-advancing resources. It is our mission to develop and maintain a website where people can go to work!

Description

Work at CBC/Radio-Canada

At CBC/Radio-Canada, we create content that informs, entertains and connects Canadians on multiple platforms. Our successes and accomplishments are driven by embodying and upholding values, which include creativity, integrity, inclusiveness and relevance.

Do you think you have the ability and drive to keep up with this exciting, ever-changing industry? Whether it be in front of the camera, on air, online or behind the scenes, you would be joining a team that thrives on making connections and telling stories that are important to Canadians.

The opportunity

CBC News has an opening for a reporter with special expertise in the field of data journalism. The successful candidate will be acquiring and analyzing raw data to use as a journalistic source to tell stories of public interest. This particular position is based in Winnipeg. The individual chosen will enhance the scope and impact of the CBC's original, enterprise, investigative and daily journalism and help provide audiences the power to understand and shape their world.

Your role

We are looking for a reporter with an understanding of where useful data exists, how to find it and how to mine it for the production of highly-relevant, impact journalism. You enjoy working in a fast-paced, competitive media environment. You also work exceptionally well with a news team and can make that team better by offering original ideas leading to compelling news coverage across all platforms.

In this role, you will ensure that all CBC journalistic standards are met and that our stories are fair, balanced, accurate, thoughtful, immediate and resonate with the communities we serve. You will further our original, enterprise and investigative storytelling and ensure we are talking about what matters most to people throughout Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

You're innovative and will try new things, new workflows and new story treatments. You inspire others to do the same.

As the industry shifts, local news and community storytelling is more important than ever. You will understand the diverse and changing population in Manitoba and Saskatchewan and the importance of reflecting all our communities in our content.

You live and promote the values of diversity and an inclusive and respectful work culture.

Experience

Three (3) years' experience in journalism or equivalent, which demonstrates proven ability in the field.

Education Requirements

University degree or equivalent.

Essential Skills

We are looking for a candidate with the following:

Strong skills in acquiring and analyzing data.

Familiarity with existing public data sets (acquiring and analyzing data, familiarity with existing public data sets, using web scraping techniques) - an asset.

Advanced skills in searching for and acquiring open source intelligence.

Expertise in filing freedom of information and access to information requests.

Strong understanding of data journalism trends and their implication for story generation and development.

Proven proficiency using social media tools.

Experience in evaluating potential legal, ethical and journalistic issues surrounding story treatments, and ability to act on them.

Advanced skills in Microsoft Excel.

Proficiency with SQL, GIS and data visualization software an asset.

Familiarity with HTML, CSS, JavaScript, etc. - an asset.

Knowledge of programming languages - an asset.

Strong writing skills and experience in broadcast platforms.

Flexibility with hours of work and willingness to learn and take on new tasks across all CBC platforms.

Ability to work effectively under newsroom deadline pressure.

Takes direction well, works cooperatively but also a self-starter.

Strong communication and interpersonal skills; strong team player.

We want to hear you, and see the work that you've done. Please include a link to your portfolio, website, video or blog in your cover letter.
