

Indigenous.Link

Canada's fastest growing Indigenous career portal, Careers.Indigenous.Link is pleased to introduce a new approach to job searching for Indigenous Job Seekers of Canada. Careers.Indigenous.Link brings simplicity, value, and functionality to the world of Canadian online job boards.

Through our partnership with Indigenous.Link's Diversity Recruitment Program, we post jobs for Canada's largest corporations and government departments. With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

The team behind Indigenous.Link is dedicated to connecting Indigenous Peoples of Canada with great jobs along with the most time and cost-effective, career-advancing resources. It is our mission to develop and maintain a website where people can go to work!

Description

About the Opportunity

Urban Systems is currently looking for a planning student to join our South Coast practice for a four-month paid internship. The internship will run from approximately May 1st to August 31, 2021. The position will be based in our Surrey office, with the potential to work from our other South Coast offices (e.g. Vancouver) on a project-specific basis.

Due to COVID-19, the opportunity to work remotely and from home does exist, although, from time-to-time, we may need assistance with client work or face-to-face meetings. Therefore, the individual would need to reside in the Lower Mainland.

We strive to create internship opportunities that are challenging, rewarding, and offer exposure to the multi-faceted nature of planning. Our goal is for you to come away with new perspectives and an enhanced skill set that will serve you well in your career as a community planner. In this position, you will find yourself in a fast-paced consulting environment, working alongside planners and other professionals on a diverse range of projects. We will aim to provide as much freedom and responsibility as you are able to handle, based on the quality of your work, your interests, and your enthusiasm.

In general, you can expect to be involved in the following kinds of activities:

- Conducting research, preparing background reports, and supporting projects for local government and First Nations clients (i.e. land use reports, conceptual plans, studies, bylaws, etc.)

- Assisting in the preparation of proposals, presentations, surveys, and reports

- Attending public meetings, workshops, and open houses as required

- Having the opportunity to work with and learn from planners at a range of levels, as well as other related professionals

Experience

About You

This position is designed for graduate students currently enrolled in a planning program accredited by the Canadian Institute of (e.g. M.A., M.U.P., M.Sc., M.Pl., M.E.S., M.U.R.P.). Preference will be given to students in between their first and second years. That being said, we are always open to considering strong candidates from other backgrounds. If your skills and interests align with what we're looking for, we encourage you to apply.

We're looking for the following skills, traits, and interests:

- Great communications skills, and a demonstrated ability to write well, ask questions, and work on teams

- Interest in research, and experience collecting and analyzing qualitative and/or quantitative data

- Interest in exploring a wide range of planning topics, including land use planning, transportation, housing, parks and recreation, economic development, community governance, and local government finance

- Interest in working with a diverse range of clients including local governments, First Nations, public corporations, private landowners, and provincial and federal governments

- Open to working on projects throughout Western Canada with communities of all sizes

- Desire to work in a fast-paced environment with a team of professionals who are deeply committed to exceeding client expectations
