

Indigenous.Link

Canada's fastest growing Indigenous career portal, Careers.Indigenous.Link is pleased to introduce a new approach to job searching for Indigenous Job Seekers of Canada. Careers.Indigenous.Link brings simplicity, value, and functionality to the world of Canadian online job boards.

Through our partnership with Indigenous.Links Diversity Recruitment Program, we post jobs for Canada's largest corporations and government departments. With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

The team behind Indigenous.Link is dedicated to connecting Indigenous Peoples of Canada with great jobs along with the most time and cost-effective, career-advancing resources. It is our mission to develop and maintain a website where people can go to work!

Description

About the Opportunity

Our growing Vancouver office is looking to add a capable and hardworking Engineer-in-Training (EIT) to our team. Are you keen to benefit from the support of industry professionals while working on exciting and inspiring projects that make a visible difference in many communities In addition to the learning and project experience, you can:

- Hone your civil engineering skills, apply theory and provide workable solutions for infrastructure design and planning including roadways, water, sanitary, drainage, and housing
- Establish relationships with communities and act as the clients' representative on-site during construction to gather information, conduct inspections, and ensure that designs are built to specifications
- Exploring creative and sustainable solutions together with our clients to build vibrant communities
- Provide accurate and timely input on technical reports, plans, studies, proposals, and presentations

Due to COVID-19, the opportunity to work remotely and from home does exist, although, from time to time, we may need assistance with client work or face-to-face meetings when they are safe to resume. Therefore, the individual would need to reside in the Vancouver area.

Experience

This opportunity is well suited to graduates from a civil or environmental engineering degree program with up to 4 years of experience.

Essential Skills

The following attributes would be considered beneficial to this role:

- You are interested in working with Indigenous communities and municipalities in British Columbia
- You take initiative, are a problem solver and continually deliver consistent, high-quality work
- You listen to others and enjoy collaborating with people of varying backgrounds and perspectives

• You are available to travel throughout Lower Mainland and British Columbia for project work including visiting communities
