

Indigenous.Link

Canada's fastest growing Indigenous career portal, Careers.Indigenous.Link is pleased to introduce a new approach to job searching for Indigenous Job Seekers of Canada. Careers.Indigenous.Link brings simplicity, value, and functionality to the world of Canadian online job boards.

Through our partnership with Indigenous.Links Diversity Recruitment Program, we post jobs for Canada's largest corporations and government departments. With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

The team behind Indigenous.Link is dedicated to connecting Indigenous Peoples of Canada with great jobs along with the most time and cost-effective, career-advancing resources. It is our mission to develop and maintain a website where people can go to work!

Description

The National Indigenous Fisheries Institute (NIFI) is an Indigenous organization that focuses on fisheries management, science, and conservation. NIFI hosts the Business Development Team, a group of fisheries and aquaculture advisors who work with Indigenous communities and Commercial Fishing Enterprises throughout Northern Canada in all aspects of business development.

The team also provides advice and assistance to participants in the Northern Integrated Commercial Fisheries Initiative (NICFI), a program administered by Fisheries and Oceans Canada, to ensure participants access the resources available through that program.

In this role as Business Development Advisor, you will advise on management practices, including business planning, governance, project management, human resources, and business operations that reflect best practices in rural community development.

What qualities are needed in this role

Ideally, you have several years of progressive, practical experience in economic development, community development, management consulting, fisheries, or similar role.

You have worked with Indigenous communities and organizations in the past and are knowledgeable of Indigenous governance practices. In addition, you are familiar with the business support programs of the federal and provincial governments and other agencies. Knowledge of community and rural economic development best practices is also valuable in this role.

You have well-developed interpersonal and communication skills that enable you to work collaboratively at all times.

This is a work-from-home position, and you can be located anywhere in Canada so long as there is reasonable travel access to the North.

Experience living and travelling within remote Arctic communities and understanding French or any of the Inuk languages would be helpful.
