

Indigenous.Link

Canada's fastest growing Indigenous career portal, Careers.Indigenous.Link is pleased to introduce a new approach to job searching for Indigenous Job Seekers of Canada. Careers.Indigenous.Link brings simplicity, value, and functionality to the world of Canadian online job boards.

Through our partnership with Indigenous.Links Diversity Recruitment Program, we post jobs for Canada's largest corporations and government departments. With our vertical job search engine technology, Indigenous Job Seekers can search thousands of Indigenous-specific jobs in just about every industry, city, province and postal code.

Careers.Indigenous.Link offers the hottest job listings from some of the nation's top employers, and we will continue to add services and enhance functionality ensuring a more effective job search. For example, during a search, job seekers have the ability to roll over any job listing and read a brief description of the position to determine if the job is exactly what they're searching for. This practical feature allows job seekers to only research jobs relevant to their search. By including elements like this, Careers.Indigenous.Link can help reduce the time it takes to find and apply for the best, available jobs.

The team behind Indigenous.Link is dedicated to connecting Indigenous Peoples of Canada with great jobs along with the most time and cost-effective, career-advancing resources. It is our mission to develop and maintain a website where people can go to work!

Description

Support our northern and Indigenous learners to flourish, grow, and blossom into our leaders of tomorrow by joining our faculty in Indigenous Governance.

Building from the courage and resolve of Yukon First Nations in trailblazing self-government agreements, Yukon University's Bachelor of Arts in Indigenous Governance program is the first degree program to be created and offered fully in northern Canada.

Developed in strong collaboration with the 14 Yukon First Nations, the curriculum weaves western and Indigenous worldviews to explore perspectives on the evolution of Indigenous self-determination in Yukon, Canada and internationally.

First offered in 2018, this ground-breaking program is the culmination of years of meaningful partnership and collaboration with Yukon First Nations. It aims to build northern leadership capacity by providing students with the values, knowledge and skills to work collaboratively within the unique governance landscape of the North.

Successful candidates will have a completed (or near completed) doctoral degree in any of the following subject areas: Indigenous Governance, Political Science (emphasis on Indigenous Political thought), or Indigenous Public Administration. Other related backgrounds such as Economic Development, Indigenous Studies, Law, or Community and Organizational Development would also be considered.

As a faculty member, you will be a mentor to students, building their confidence and capacity, and supporting them to recognize their full potential. Successful candidates will also have research experience in any of the above fields, preferably in partnership with Indigenous, northern or remote communities, and previous experience in the delivery of undergraduate degree programs and courses.

Prior experience in any of the following will be considered assets: teaching Indigenous students and/or students in remote communities, curriculum development and program assessment, teaching through distance-education technologies, teaching in an adult-education environment.

Requests for secondment will be considered.

How to Apply

By email to hr@yukonu.ca

Yukon University is committed to the values of equity, diversity and inclusion. All qualified persons are encouraged to apply; however, qualified scholars who self-identify as Yukon First Nations, other First Nations, Métis, Inuit, or other Indigenous ancestry will be given priority. While we thank all candidates for their interest, only those shortlisted will be contacted.
