Description

BACKGROUND:

We Matter is an Indigenous and youth-led national non-profit organization dedicated to Indigenous youth support, hope and life promotion. Our mission is to communicate to Indigenous youth that they matter, and create spaces of support for those going through a hard time while fostering unity and resiliency.

Our key project, the We Matter Campaign, is a national multi-media campaign in which Indigenous role models and allies from across Canada submit short video, written and artistic messages sharing their own experiences of overcoming hardships, and communicating with Indigenous youth that no matter how hopeless life can feel, there is always a way forward.

We Matter operates nationally in Canada, with a small team spread across British Columbia and Ontario. Visit us at www.wemattercampaign.org.

JOB SUMMARY:

Since launching in October 2016, the We Matter Campaign has reached millions of people on social media, with continued social media reach and growth. The Campaign has received widespread support on both a national and community level for approaching Indigenous mental health and life promotion in a new and extremely accessible way. We Matterâ€™s work as an Indigenous-led organization includes sharing messages of hope, culture, and strength; finding innovative ways of creating and distributing messaging into remote and northern areas; building a support network of youth and community leaders; and creating tools and resources on mental health, life promotion, hardship, hope, and healing for Indigenous youth, teachers, and youth support workers.

We believe Indigenous youth are healers and changemakers, and with the right support, capacity, and resources, can be the ones to inspire and uplift other Indigenous youth and their communities. We Matter is launching a National Ambassadors of Hope Program to train and work with young leaders to feel comfortable speaking about mental health, life promotion, and Indigenous youth issues so they can become actual ambassadors of hope in their community, as well as regionally and nationally. Working closely with the rest of the We Matter Team, the Ambassadors of Hope Lead (part-time) will support 20-25 Indigenous Youth Ambassadors of Hope nationally, to bring We Matter to youth in their regions and share the message of hope, culture and strength through presentations and the We Matter Toolkits.
